

CeMig Newsletter

03.02.2026

This is the newsletter of the Centre for Global Migration Studies \(CeMig\). It provides regular information about events, research projects and publications on the subject of migration at Göttingen Campus and within the region.

New CeMig Member

We would like to welcome and introduce Yasmin Dreessen, researcher at CeMig from 2026 until 2029. She works in the Göttingen team of the research area FuturMig – Production of Futures of Migration.

Yasmin Dreessen studied ethnology and gender studies at the University of Göttingen and completed her master's degree in cultural anthropology/European ethnology in 2025 with a thesis on the production of a "Problemimmobilie" between problematized migration from Southeast Europe and socio-political actions and negotiations, using the example of Groner Landstraße 9-9b in Göttingen. During her master's degree, she participated in various projects at the interface between science and political education, including the bpb feasibility study on a nationwide NSU documentation center and the project Ver/Sammeln Antirassistischer Kämpfe (Collecting Anti-Racist Struggles), in which she collaborated with victims and relatives of the victims of NSU terrorism to create the podcast "Das Schweigen ist vorbei!" (The Silence is Over!).

Since January 2026 Yasmin Dreessen is working at CeMig as a research assistant in the Lower Saxony joint project FuturMig – Production of Migration Futures. In this context involved in coordination and curatorial work at the Friedland Museum. Together with colleagues at the museum and with the participatory and collaborative involvement of other stakeholders, residents, and museum visitors, Yasmin Dreessen is developing educational formats and a permanent exhibition area on the topic of “Futures of Migration” at the Friedland site as part of a real-world laboratory.

FuturMig Lecture Series

The poster for the FuturMig Lecture Series features a colorful geometric design with triangles in shades of blue, green, and orange. At the top, it says 'FUTURMIG' with a small logo. Below that, it reads 'LOWER SAXONY RESEARCH AREA > FUTURES OF MIGRATION <'. The main title 'FuturMig Lecture Series' is prominently displayed. A paragraph explains that in Lower Saxony's research area >FuturMig<, four leading migration research institutes partner with the Museum Friedland to explore ideas and strategies for shaping the future of societies shaped by migration. The poster lists three lectures: 20.01.26, 16:00-18:00 by Dr. Zeynep Yamanoglu (DeZIM) on 'The role of the labour market shortage narrative in the negotiation of future society visions'; 03.02.26, 16:00-18:00 by Prof. Dr. Aysun Dogmus (TU Berlin) on 'Zukunft im Kontext von Rassismus imaginieren'; and 10.02.26, 16:00-18:00 by Dr. Matthias Wagner (Universität zu Köln) on 'Zukunftsvisionen und Bildungsentscheidungen im Kontext transnationaler (Bildungs-)Biographie'. It also notes that lectures will be held online and provides a Zoom link. Logos for CeMig, Lower Saxony Research Area, and various funding partners are at the bottom.

The project FuturMig - Production of Futures of Migration is launching a three-part lecture series in January and February.
