

When did democracy

became liberal ?

An intellectual and digital history in France and the United Kingdom

A keynote by
Dr. Hugo Bonin

07/05/26

18h15

VG 2.101

This talk explores how the concept of 'liberal democracy' emerged as a politically constructed notion, shaped by crises and elite strategies. Combining intellectual history and digital methods, it traces the genealogy of this ambiguous term, from its contested origins to its institutionalization as a legitimizing ideal. The findings challenge traditional narratives and reveal the never ending tensions between democracy and liberalism.

NO REGISTRATION NEEDED
FUNDED BY HAF & GAUG