

Prof. Dr. Bernhard Möhring

Professor of Forest Managerial Economics

- Dipl. Forstwirt (Diploma in Forest Science), Göttingen University and University Freiburg, Germany, 1980
- Junior Official of State Forest Administration, Lower Saxony, Germany 1981 - 1982
- Scientific Assistant Institute of Forest Economy, Göttingen University 1983 - 1991
- Dr. forest., Forestry Faculty, Göttingen University, 1986
- Director in charge of State Forest Administration Office Holzminden, Lower Saxony, Germany 1991 - 1992
- Director of State Forest Administration Office Winnefeld, Lower Saxony, Germany 1992 - 1997
- Privatdozent (Assistant Professor), Göttingen University 1993
- Professor for Forest Managerial Economics, Göttingen University since 1997

Major Research Interests:

1. Forest business management of private and communal forest enterprises.
2. Modelling the economic effects of conversion to more natural forests and justification for financial compensation of land owners.
3. Marketing strategies for forest products.

Address:

Departement of Forest Economics and Forest Planning University of Göttingen
Büsgenweg 5

37077 Göttingen
Germany

phone:

+49-551-39 3422

fax:

+49-551-39 3420

e-mail:

forecon@forst.uni-goettingen.de

<http://ufobiu.forst.uni-goettingen.de/ufbl>