

The Game of Life

Instructions:

You will need a dice and two playing pieces or tokens. The two of you will take turns in casting the dice and shall go as far as the number on the dice indicates. Answer the question on which your token lands. If you want to learn English, answer the question in English. Then ask your partner the same question in their target language/your native language. Your partner should answer the same question in their target language. One-word or one-sentence answers do not count! In the end, both of you will have won the game, as you will have got to know each other better and will have improved your knowledge of your target language! 😊
